

Revolutions in Care

Health Technology

The Continua Health Alliance, Home Care Association of New York State, New York Association of Homes & Services for the Aging and the American Telemedicine Association would like to invite you to a demonstration and discussion on health technologies that are revolutionizing the way health care is provided.

- National leaders in health care innovation will showcase home telehealth and telemonitoring technologies.
- Providers will be present to discuss their experiences and show how these tools enhance the services they provide, saving time, saving money, and saving lives.

Come see how health technology is being used to improve quality of care and quality of life in a safe, more cost-effective way
